

Is the Public Really Safe on Your Farm?

LEARNING THE KEYS TO SUCCESS IN AGRITOURISM

Are you a farmer who invites, or would like to invite, the public onto your farm?

Are you a fair operator who manages a petting zoo?

Then this FREE training workshop is for you!

This full day workshop will involve speakers from various federal, state, and university extension agencies, talking about overall farm safety risks, public health risks related to animal health, best practices to keep your livestock healthy, farm liability, and much more. This event is hosted by the USDA Veterinary Services, in cooperation with the state departments of agriculture and public health.

FREE risk assessment toolkits and various signage will be available to attendees.
